Ground Crews Push Ahead For Next Gemini 9 Attempt

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—While an investigation board studied the multi-million-dollar failure of Gemini 9's Atlas-Agena target rocket, ground crews pushed ahead today in hopes of launching astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan in two or three weeks.

When Stafford and Cernan make another stab at their rendezvous and space-walk mission, it will depend on the precise cause of Tuesday's failure.

The results could affect not only the Gemini 9 date, but also several other Atlas-Agena space launches scheduled here and at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California in the next two months.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said they were confident that a quick rescheduling of Gemini 9—plus the launching of the three remaining Gemini flights at two-month intervals—would provide all the data necessary to proceed to the three-man Apollo moon project.

The air force, which is responsible for the Gemini launch vehicles, reported after Tuesday's failure that one of the three engines in the Atlas booster had swivelled wildly to one side and sent the Atlas-Agena combination tumbling out of control.

DIVES BACK

The other two Atlas engines continued to burn, but the vehicle was diving back toward earth instead of into space. It plunged into the Atlantic about 180 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Buddhists End Truce

SAIGON (Reuters)—South Viet Nam's powerful Buddhist church tonight ended its uneasy truce with the country's military government.

In a strongly-worded communique the church accused the ruling 10-man military junta of bad faith and said it had no confidence in Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The church declared it was throwing its support behind rebel troops and civilians holding out against government control in the northern cities of Da Nang and Hue.

It also demanded the withdrawal of the 2,500 government troops sent to Da Nang during the weekend to wrest control of the city from the rebels.

The communique came within hours of the appeal by State Secretary Dean Rusk of the United States for all factions in South Viet Nam to act with goodwill and restraint.

U.K. Tie-Up Worsens

LONDON (CP)—A cabinet would amount to a 13-per-cent emergency committee today prepared to consider demands for an official clamp on rising food prices resulting from Britain's merchant seamen's strike, now in its third day.

Some 10,000 crew members have left 300 British ships immobilized in ports around the nation with the tie-up growing hourly.

To safeguard food supplies the government took its first crisis measure in the strike by banning, from Saturday, the export of meat and non-pedigree livestock.

The 65,000-member National Union of Seamen is striking for an immediate reduction in the present work week from 36 hours to 40 hours for the same pay, a demand that the shipowners contend would amount to a pay increase of 17 per cent.

The shipowners have offered a reduction over two years to a 40-hour week, which they say would amount to a 13-per-cent increase.

A British able seaman earns, including overtime and other payments, an average of £20 (£60) a week. Basic pay is £14 (£42).

Prime Minister Wilson, who wants to keep his government's prices - and - incomes policy intact, has urged the seamen to accept an immediate three-per-cent increase and full inquiry into pay and working conditions.

The cabinet committee watching economic effects of the strike met several times Tuesday as Agriculture Minister Fred Peart told traders the government will act if the current increase in meat, vegetable and fruit prices becomes rampant.

LONDON (CP)—Canadian Pacific Steamships announced today it has made air-charter arrangements for E m p r e s s of England passengers who departure to Canada was delayed by the British seamen's strike.

He noted that suggestions along this line have been criticized as inappropriate while the United States is in a shooting war.

"We can do so with properly balanced trade relations, diplomatic contacts, and in some cases even by exchanges of military observers," McNamara said.

In a speech prepared for the American Society of Newspaper Editors, McNamara spoke of U.S. relationships with potential enemies as well as with underdeveloped countries and with U.S. allies.

He made only bare mention of Viet Nam and then only indirectly.

The defence secretary said: "Breaching the isolation of great nations like Red China... reduces the danger of potentially catastrophic misunderstandings," and increases the incentive on both sides to resolve disputes by reason rather than by force.

As a step toward development of a world-wide "community of effort," McNamara suggested that every young person in the United States should be asked to give two years of service, whether in the military, the Peace Corps or "some other volunteer development work at home and abroad."

"We could encourage other countries to do the same and we could work out exchange programs much as the Peace Corps is already planning to do," McNamara said.

Explosion Rocks Pearson's Office

Dief, Fulton Quit 'McCarthy' Probe

One Man Found Dead

OTTAWA (CP)—An accident-fund man was reported killed when an explosion rocked a washroom near the offices of Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin in the Parliament Building today.

Dr. P. B. Rynard, a medical doctor and Conservative MP for Simcoe East, examined the victim and told reporters the man had died.

Acrid smoke filled hallways of the third floor of the Centre Block of the Parliament Buildings. The blast occurred in just across a hall from the main public gallery of the Commons.

The Commons recessed at 3:45 p.m. for 15 minutes.

Dr. Hugh Horner (PC—Janet - Edson) also entered the washroom minutes after the blast. He told a reporter afterward that the victim appeared to be an older man and that death probably was instantaneous.

He said the explosive smelled like black gunpowder or dynamite.

BOOMS THROUGH CHAMBER The blast came about 2:30 p.m., just a few minutes after the start of the Commons afternoon sitting. The boom echoed loudly through the Commons chamber.

The blast was strong enough to blow the glass out of the washroom window and to send clouds of acrid fumes rolling down the corridors of the Centre Block.

Reporters, visitors and Commons protective staff rushed to the scene as dense smoke spread rapidly at the west end of the third floor.

There was no immediate indication what caused the explosion. The protective staff struggled frantically to cordon off the blast area.

The floor of the Commons and the galleries buzzed with talk and Speaker Lucien Lamoureux was obliged to call the House to order to allow the speakers to be heard.

136 Survive Off Lost Ship

MANILA (AP)—Rescue authorities said today they have confirmed that 136 of the 283 persons aboard the missing Philippine steamer Pioneer Cebu have reached safety on the small island of Santayan.

Officials at the Manila rescue centre said the coastal vessel Diana picked up the 136 survivors and two bodies.

Indonesians Fired As Plot Sequel

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—About 5,000 members of the Indonesian ministry of public energy have been dismissed for alleged involvement in the abortive Communist-led coup last October, radio Jakarta reported Tuesday.

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker today withdrew from the Munster inquiry, charging that it is an instrument of political assassination.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced his boycott just prior to the inquiry's mid-morning hearing, and explained his reasons at noon before a crowded press conference in his Commons office.

He said publication by the inquiry of a "hasty document" on the Gerda Munster affair violated fundamental rights.

He called the statement "a scurrilous, libelous document" a "McCarthyism" and "a statement intended to destroy his reputation and was not in evidence. Many points in it were contradicted by the evidence."

Mr. Diefenbaker was joined by his boycott by Dave Fulton, former Conservative justice minister.

The Opposition leader said he cannot understand the conduct of the inquiry commissioner, Mr. Justice Wishart Spence.

He also criticized commission counsel John O'Brien, a Montreal lawyer.

From the day Mr. O'Brien had been named commission counsel, he had boasted publicly in Montreal of "what he was going to do with a former prime minister."

Mr. Diefenbaker recalled that when the Conservatives were in office Mr. O'Brien was counsel for the Bell Telephone Company of Canada when the firm applied to the Board of Transport Commissioners for a rate increase.

The cabinet had taken strong objection to the basis for the application.

"He (O'Brien) apparently nursed his resentment and now he has stated over and over again that he was going to get even."

Liberals Survive

OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Liberal government survived the closest non-confidence vote of the session Tuesday night.

The count was 118 to 111 on a Conservative motion charging the government with a negative approach in imposing a "light money policy" and denying home builders mortgage funds.

The 115 Liberal present would have carried the vote without the three Social Credit MPs who supported them.

The two-day money supply debate revolved around the non-confidence motion but little tension was generated.

Eighty-five Conservatives, 15 New Democrats, all nine Creditists and the two Independents voted against the government.

MR. DIEFENBAKER ... B's McCarthyism

MR. FULTON ... follows leader

Mr. Diefenbaker said this boast was made widely but the Opposition leader declined to name his sources.

The Conservative leader said the statement prepared and released by commission counsel was based on hearsay and "could not have been issued except with the purpose of creating a derogatory climate."

It was Mr. Justice Spence who called it a "hasty document."

Asked whether he plans any legal action, Mr. Diefenbaker replied: "That is a good question. I will consult my counsel about that."

'I Have No Apologies To Make'

Mr. Fulton later issued a statement criticizing point by point the manner in which the Munster inquiry has been conducted.

He said he has no apologies to make for his handling of the Munster affair when he was justice minister.

His statement recalled that he had objected from the outset to the terms of reference of the inquiry, to secret sessions held without notice to the persons involved, to his difficulty in getting access to exhibits and official files, and to the publication of parts of a secret RCMP file.

"Our counsel had to undertake a virtual blasting operation before we were finally shown all the relevant police files."

Romania Officially Denies Seeking Warsaw Pact Change

BUCHAREST (Reuters)—Romania today officially denied it was initiating proposals for changes within the Warsaw Pact military alliance.

The chief foreign office spokesman here described reports from Moscow that Romania had circulated notes on the subject to all member countries as "pure fantasy."

"There is no Romanian note and no Romanian initiative," the spokesman said. "The reports are without foundation."

The Moscow reports had said Romania told the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact members it felt it was no longer necessary to station foreign troops in member countries.

That it was no longer prepared to contribute toward the costs of stationing troops, and that the supreme commander—until now always a Soviet general—should rotate among members.

KIDNAPPED GIRL 'NOT MOLESTED'

Phantom Sniper Dies At Dawn

SHADE GAP, Pa. (AP)—The phantom sniper who kidnapped a 17-year-old girl and shot and killed an FBI agent was shot and killed himself today in a dawn gun battle with hundreds of state police and FBI agents in the mountains that had hid him from the law for almost a week.

The gunfight climaxed the week-long massive manhunt started when the sniper walked out of the woods into Shade Gap last Wednesday and snatched pretty Peggy Ann Bradnick. She was rescued today.

Described during the search as the mountain man who has terrorized this rural central Pennsylvania community for almost two years, the sniper and the girl had disappeared into the woods-and-mountains-that-make up the area.

With the aid of police dogs, lawmen closed the jaws of the trap and flushed William Diller Hollenbaugh, 44, out of his rock-strewn hiding place.

The ex-convict, however, refused to go down without a fight. He opened up a number of holes, fired his rifle at the coming police and FBI agents before being felled by a bullet in the chest.

He died at Fulton Medical Centre in nearby McConelsburg, Pa.

GIRL NOT HURT The girl, who was taken while walking home from school with five brothers and sisters, was reported in good health at the hospital.

She had not been molested, a medical spokesman said.

During the flash of gun fire as dawn came over the rugged Tuscarora mountains, a deputy sheriff and an FBI agent were wounded.

"He was shot and wounded but he is alive," the spokesman said.

Hollenbaugh, who served part of a five- to 10-year term for burglary and spent 13 years in a mental hospital, was charged Tuesday with the murder of FBI agent Terry Ray Anderson, a father of four and 10-year veteran of the federal law agency.

Anderson was shot and killed as he investigated along with other agents and state police the cabin in the deep woods in which Hollenbaugh has been living.

As the agents inched toward the cabin, shots rang out and Anderson and two police dogs were killed.

Immediately after the slaying of Anderson, state police and the FBI sent every available man from within a radius of 200 miles to the scene some 70 miles south of Harrisburg, the state capital.

At first they established a circle 20 miles across and, gradually creeping forward, narrowed it to a perimeter of some eight miles.

The ring of armed men waited through the night before making their move. Then, led by a team of specially trained police dogs, some brought in from as far away as Arkansas, they closed-in-on-Hollenbaugh-and his young hostage.

The mountain cabin where he had lived alone was about six miles south of Shade Gap, about 180 yards from Route 222 and not far from a tunnel which takes the Pennsylvania turnpike through the Tuscarora ridge of the Appalachians.

Police had long suspected that Hollenbaugh was a mysterious sniper known as "the mountain sniper" who fired shots at five persons in the last two years.

Two were wounded—one man so seriously that a leg had to be amputated.

NEWS IN A MINUTE

Violence Reported In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two outbreaks of violence by Negroes and scattered reports of gunshots kept police alert today. Officers said the incidents Tuesday night followed a demonstration in front of a police station, where 500 Negroes gathered after a rally to protest the fatal shooting of a Negro by a policeman.

Police Arrest 30 Flemish Students

LOUVAIN, Belgium (Reuters)—Police arrested 30 Flemish students here early today after riots against an ecclesiastical decree retaining equal status for Flemings and Walloons at the city's ancient Roman Catholic university.

Ship Radios For Help Off Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—The Air-Sea-Rescue Centre here reported today that the Greek vessel Aurora had radioed for aid after taking on water through a break in the after hatch. The vessel with a crew of 29 radioed at 4:30 a.m.

China Claims Evidence Of 'Pirates'

PEKING (Reuters)—China today published "irrefutable evidence" to support its claim that "pirate" United States jets intruded into Chinese airspace Thursday and shot down a Chinese plane. Newspapers splashed on their front pages photographs which they said showed the remains of a Sidewinder-air-to-air guided missile that downed the Chinese plane.

U.S. and Canada Meeting To End Fisheries Dispute

SEATTLE (CP) — Negotiations to end the U.S.-Canada fisheries dispute are under way here Tuesday in an effort to settle a salmon fishing dispute between the two countries.

The meeting was arranged after Canadian fishermen threatened to not U.S.-based salmon on the high seas under U.S. fisheries laws.

Canadian fishermen are fishing in the Gulf of Alaska around the Aleutian Islands. The U.S. contends it has historic fishing rights there.

Delegates expressed views ranging from good to uncertain on whether the dispute will be settled.

The meeting is the third attempt to find a solution. Two others failed in Washington, D.C., last October and in Ottawa last month.

"We are optimistic that things can be worked out," said W. C. Harrington, chairman of the U.S. section and special assistant for fisheries in the U.S. state department.

"I'm not talking to the press until the end of the meeting," said Dr. A. W. H. Needler, Canada's section chairman.

Dr. Needler is federal deputy fisheries minister.

"It will probably be a rough meeting," he commented.

Kerness, Alaska's fish and game commissioner.

Washington fisheries director Thor C. Tolleson said: "I'm fairly hopeful. I think both countries realize there must be a little give on each side."

Meanwhile, in Washington, the state department was said to be giving the lead of negotiators to its top official assigned to international fisheries matters.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the U.S. senate commerce committee, said the new upgraded post of ambassador of fisheries will replace the current office of special assistant to the under secretary of state for fisheries and wildlife, held by Harrington, who is returning to his post.

The ambassador, Magnuson said, will report directly to the secretary of state. His title, he added, "will considerably enhance the prestige of American negotiations at the conference table."

'Papa Doc' Puts In More Teeth To Consolidate His Position

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Papa Doc is putting in more teeth than what he calls his "revolution" — the better to tighten his grip on this backward island.

Papa Doc, as he is known to all, is Dr. Francois Duvalier, president for life of what once was a French colony.

He has destroyed his opposition at home and now feels he must consolidate his position so that he can, if nothing else, last out his term.

This means money is needed to pay for the security that keeps him in power. Every move is being tapped—and new sources created. Quickly, in the last eight months, the 56-year-old dictator has created an export-import monopoly that makes revenue out of every product coming in and going out of the country from Haiti to the rest of the world.

To attract tourists, Papa Doc is trying to give Haiti the look of a exotic spot at peace and at work. This isn't hard to do where all political resistance has been crushed.

CITY HAS CHANGED

Port au Prince and environs have undergone a dramatic change from the sordid days of the 1950s. From the streets are the military checkpoints and the nervous sight of armed men. The business district hasn't started.

The atmosphere is thick with resignation to the fact of Papa Doc's control. Radio broadcasts, originating in New York, seem to provide more comfort than the local press.

The radio broadcasts sometimes are accurate about what is going on inside the country. The speed with which some information gets to the New York station has made some Haitian officials suspicious that U.S. government agencies may be involved.

FRANCOIS DUVALIER
... Haiti's president

Prices are held here of what they are in the Dominican Republic. The inflow of tourism is increasing, especially from French Canada.

CAN RELAX

With unchallenged control, Duvalier can afford to relax the repressive measures that gave his dictatorship a bad name abroad.

Economists here discuss chances of an economic collapse. The country has been more or less bankrupt ever since Duvalier took over in 1957.

It really doesn't take much to run this country of 4,000,000 people, the most densely populated area of the Western Hemisphere. The per capita national product is some $77 a year, one of the world's lowest.

The problem of paying for Duvalier's private army and his political support is another thing. This is where the import-export monopoly comes in.

U.S. Jet Hit Own Troops

SAIGON (Reuters) — American jets last week accidentally bombed a United States infantry group, killing two U.S. soldiers and wounding 16 more, a U.S. spokesman revealed today.

He said a flight of F-105 Super-Sabre jets was called in to attack retreating Viet Cong guerrillas last Thursday. But they were misled by wrongly placed smoke signals on the ground and dropped their bombs on a battalion of American troops some 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

Turkey Aims To Curb Spies

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkey took steps Tuesday to cut down on foreign spies who observe ships coming into Istanbul and through the Bosphorus to and from the Soviet Union.

The government warned all diplomatic attaches they must move from Istanbul to Ankara, the Turkish capital, by Sept. 30 if they want to continue to enjoy diplomatic immunity—that is, being free from arrest if caught in illegal activities.

The move will affect naval, commercial and press attaches of about 15 countries from both the North Atlantic alliance and the Soviet bloc. Turkey is a NATO member.

A Turkish official described the move as "purely routine," but a Turkish newspaper said the centering of all attaches in Ankara will bolster Turkey's security.

Since the Second World War, Western attaches have used Istanbul as a base to check maritime traffic moving to and from the Black Sea.

FIRE TRUCK TAKES A STROLL

DUNCAN, Ont. (CP) — Five Chief Leonard Martin, the mayor and several councillors were sitting around when they heard the sound of a truck engine start in the fire hall.

The chief rushed over and just missed being struck by the community's fire truck as it crashed through the hall's closed door. Outside, the runaway truck made a sharp turn and crashed into the chief's parked car. Total damage was $200.

"It must have been a short of some kind that started it up," Chief Martin said. "It's the first day of the month we haven't had a call. Maybe she was just edgy and decided she just had to go."

Rhodesians Buying Guns

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Gun sales to white Rhodesians were reported today to have increased sharply since Monday's killing by armed Rhodesians of a couple of their black tobacco farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Viljoen, both 34, were shot to death at their farm outside Hartley, a European farming centre 40 miles southwest of here.

It was the first known incident of political violence involving the deaths of whites in Rhodesia since Premier Ian Smith's white-minority regime proclaimed independence from Britain in November.

The attack was believed to be the work of terrorists, probably remnants of an African nationalist guerrilla group which fought a running battle with Rhodesian security forces April 24.

KILLED SEVEN

Seven members of the Zimbabwe African National Union, one of Rhodesia's banned African nationalist parties, were killed in the battle.

ZANU claimed in Lusaka Tuesday night that the Hartley killings were part of its countryside activities in Rhodesia and said:

"For every one of our sons and daughters killed by the settlers, we shall kill settlers with compound interest."

However, observers do not expect the incidents such as that at Hartley will bring Rhodesia face to face with a major terrorist uprising. They note a general lack of support for the nationalist cause by the mass of the Negro population.

Rhodesia has some 4,000,000 Negroes governed by 250,000 whites.

Ex-Navy Man 'Doing Well' After Rare Heart Surgery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A retired U.S. Navy man was "doing well" today after becoming the second patient within three weeks to have a partial artificial heart implanted in his chest.

Walter L. McCann, 61, of Woodville, Wash., received the device to assist his heart's pumping in an operation performed Tuesday by a cardiovascular team at Methodist Hospital.

A hospital statement said McCann was taken to surgery to have an aortic ball valve inserted in his heart. He was described as in "rather severe left ventricular heart failure" when he entered the operating room.

Afterward the hospital would say only that "the surgical operation was successful."

His first statement on McCann's condition was issued more than four hours after the operation was completed.

IN SECOND ATTEMPT

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, internationally known heart surgeon, performed a similar operation last April 21 on Marcel L. DeBakey, 65, a former Illinois coal miner. DeBakey died April 26 without regaining consciousness.

Doctors said death was caused by a ruptured left lung, one of several complications following surgery.

DeBakey said the artificial heart was working normally when DeBakey died.

The hospital's brief statement did not say DeBakey performed the operation on McCann. He is head of the medical-engineering artificial heart team but other surgeons on the team are capable of performing it.

The hospital gave no information about McCann. The neighbors in Woodville said he had spent almost half the last two years in hospitals and a heart condition has kept him from working for some time.

He was referred to the heart team three weeks ago by the Navy Hospital in Seattle, where he had been under treatment. His wife Marian followed him to Houston about a week ago.

USAf Had To Borrow Bombs For Raids Over Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The air force has had to borrow more than 400 bombs from the navy to help carry out its air strikes in Viet Nam, it was learned today.

The defense department provided this figure in response to questions after the bomb division came to light in congressional testimony released Tuesday.

The disclosure seemed to indicate that the air force has been confronted with a significant, if not serious, problem of bomb supplies in the face of stepped-up war activity.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara has said repeatedly that no bomb shortage has adversely affected the war effort.

In another development, the chief of U.S. naval operations, Admiral David L. McDonald, said the navy has decided "it is not now worthwhile under present circumstances" to re-commission a battleship for Viet Nam duty.

McDonald's comment at a news conference followed a disclosure in Washington that the navy has studied the possibility of reactivating one or more battleships because of their tremendous firepower.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market mounted a strong morning rally today, snapping a four-day losing streak as the industrial index rose 1.06 to 180.53.

The recovery followed the trend at New York where a number of key issues moved sharply higher in heavy trading.

At Toronto, Alcan Aluminum paced the industrial advance, climbing 1 1/4 to 39 1/4 following an announcement by the company Tuesday that net earnings per share rose to 35 cents in the first quarter of 1968 compared with 22 cents in the same period last year.

Among other industrials, Bell Telephone, CPR and Massey Ferguson were up 1/4 each to 51 1/4, 57 1/4 and 35 1/4 respectively.

Boomer Mines and Oils Ltd., which plunged to 75 cents from 1.32 Tuesday, increased 5 to 78 cents on 90,000 shares.

Falconbridge and Inco gained 1/4 each to 92 1/4 and 96 1/4 in base metals. Rio Algom added 1/4 to 21 1/4 while Noranda dropped 1/4 to 50 1/4.

On index, golds were down .07 to 182.89. Base metals were up .41 to 87.21, western oils 1.15 to 101.64 and the TSE .99 to 151.95. Volume at 11 a.m. was 819,000 shares compared with 819,000 at the same time Tuesday.

Clean-Up Campaign Helps But Much Work Remains

Kelowna's clean-up campaign, good start, that it would provide trucks to haul away any sheds, left at the edge of the owner's property, for one week with the newspaper there.

The campaign for cleaning has been altered slightly to one for painting he said today. City officials, checking various areas in Kelowna have found a large number of fences and buildings that need a fresh coat of paint.

Ald. Angus said response to the campaign has been good and a three-day waiting list now exists for hauling away sheds. The city promised, in an effort to get the operation off to a

College Issue Flares Again

The Vernon Parents and Taxpayers Committee is annoyed at the Okanagan Regional College Council for not giving direct answers to its queries.

A statement issued by the Vernon committee said the questions it has put to the college council are also the questions (as a whole or in part) of Vernon, Armstrong, Spallumcheun, Armstrong, and other communities.

The committee asked if the answers it seeks are likely to be given by the college council or if the council is totally indifferent to the wish of the public.

Work Crew Battling Time At City's Hydroplane Site

Work crews are racing Mother Nature at Okanagan Lake when the lake rises, the city's hydroplane site.

They are extending the shoreline 30 feet at the site of the pit area for the unlimited hydroplanes, which race here July 13-17.

The crews must complete 725 feet of seawall before the spring runoff raises the lake level two feet within the next 14 to 21 days.

Purpose of the project is to give the huge hydroplanes— they are from 28 to 33 feet long and weigh up to five tons— the necessary five feet of draft.

The races here, for the British Columbia Cup, will be the first ever held in Canada. The B.C. Centennial Committee and the Kelowna Boat Racing Association are sponsoring the $30,000 production, which is expected to draw 100,000 people during the five-day period.

The Centennial Committee has contributed $20,000 toward the race; Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. is contributing $10,000 as a centennial public service gesture to its customers and to the interior B.C. area it services.

Flyers Meet Here Friday

Some changes have been promised for the semi-annual meeting of the B.C. Aviation Council to be held here Friday and Saturday.

More time for "beefs and queries" has been allowed at the meeting which is scheduled for the Capri Motor Hotel, Thursday evening.

A panel meeting at 8:30 a.m. will get Saturday off to an early start. In general aviation doing enough for itself, will be the topic discussed by moderator Robert McCollum and the panel.

Later Saturday members will have a chance for some recreation, such as swimming, golf, fishing or fence painting.

More Details To Ottawa; No Word From Greene

Attempts to gain additional financial aid for Okanagan growers who suffered crop losses last year are not being abandoned.

In a telephone interview Tuesday, Allan Carnegie, president of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association, said the association is still hoping to receive aid from the federal government.

A letter to the minister of agriculture, J. J. Greene, was mailed "quite a while ago," Mr. Carnegie said.

An answer was promised but the association felt another move was needed.

A reply to the minister is expected within two or three weeks, Mr. Carnegie said.

DISTRIBUTE LETTERS

A copy of all correspondence with the minister will be sent to each district council of the association when the letter arrives.

"We can only assure everyone concerned that the project hasn't been forgotten," Mr. Carnegie said.

Mr. Carnegie said "And we are still doing our best to receive a favorable reply from Mr. Greene."

A provincial aid and was first presented to Frank X. Richter, provincial agriculture minister Feb. 1.

The proposal included a plan to extend the present maximum crop insurance limit of $4,000 on a sliding scale to be useful and more equitable than the present one.

Road Mishaps And Liquor Prove Expensive In Court

A city dairy delivery man was fined $300 in magistrate's court for 30 days.

The court was told he collided with another vehicle on Black Mt. Rd. May 14, causing $50 damage, but did not stop.

The prosecutor said he had no reason to believe the accused was drinking, but this is often the reason people leave an accident scene, so a smaller fine will be assessed. He asked the fine be high enough to act as a deterrent.

Wilfred Sheppy, 20, of 759 Patterson Ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $50.

Robert J. Morrison, 21, of Okanagan Centre, was fined $40 on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign. He pleaded guilty but said he had no reason to believe he was drinking, but this is often the reason people leave an accident scene, so a smaller fine will be assessed. He asked the fine be high enough to act as a deterrent.

WOMAN BOUGHT

On the Corner...

The principal of the Leaside Branch of the Royal Conservatory of Music, John Bailey, will be on the board of examiners conducting current examinations for the conservatory in Kelowna. Mr. Bailey will examine June 3 and 4.

The city council was taken to task at Monday's meeting for allowing its dandelion seeds to spread throughout the city. A resident asked why taxpayers should be expected to keep their properties weed-free when the city's dandelion seeds were causing much of the trouble.

Mayer R. F. Parkins agreed it was a problem, but said the weed bylaw was intended mainly to keep weeds off unoccupied properties.

Kelowna's senior B football players cast envious glances toward AM. Thomas Angus Saturday night as he helped Mayer R. F. Parkins "Christen" the new lights at King's Park. Ald. Angus struck the mayor out on three pitches during the ceremony, but in all fairness to the worship he would have needed a six-foot-long bat to hit the ball, which came in "slightly wide of the plate."

Three Kelowna cars placed "in the money" at a destruction derby held at Larch Hill, near Salmon Arm, Sunday. Peter Smith, with co-driver Marvin Hagler won second prize; Keith Davis, with co-driver David Arthur won third and Donald Smith, with co-driver Leonard Comeau, fourth. The next destruction derby is expected to be in Kelowna in about one month.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will be in Kelowna about July 10, to inspect mining operations in the area. The lieutenant-governor is planning a summer spin around the province to visit mining developments, new "instant" towns and Indian communities.

The Banff-Calgary area may yet have the last laugh in the 1972 winter Olympic hassle, recently lost to Sapporo, Japan. Mr. Eniwa has been chosen for the major ski events, but the official Japanese travel guide lists the mountain as an active volcano, from which small clouds of steam rising constantly. If it erupts in 1972 the world will not only see the fastest downhill race in history, but the lava might eliminate some of the International Olympic Committee members who keep voting against Canadian bids.

The Kelowna Museum will open Saturday and remain open until the fall. Officials said today they hope Victoria Day weekend crowds will visit the building on Mill St.

Surviving are Mr. Birkelund's wife, Anna; two sons, Arthur in Salmon Arm; and Harry in Burns Lake; four grandchildren and two brothers.

City Resident Funeral Held

Funeral service for Richard Molzahn, 37, was held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance May 12.

He died suddenly May 10 in New Westminster.

Mr. Molzahn was born in Poland and came to Edmonton with his parents in 1930. The family homesteaded in the Elk Creek district before coming to Rutland in 1935.

Mr. Molzahn moved to Vancouver for a short time before coming to Kelowna in 1965. He also spent some time in Merritt.

Mr. Molzahn is survived by his mother, one brother, William in Merritt; one sister, Mrs. H. R. Link in Kelowna; six nephews and four nieces.

Pallbearers were Eric Jabs, Albert Jabs, Eric Schur, Jim Bertie, Ewart Bresch and Ervin Hall.

Funeral service was held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance, Saturday, with Rev. E. S. Fleming officiating.

CHAMBER-BUILDING ACTIVITY INCREASES

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce building looks deceptively calm in this picture. Actually the chamber of commerce westside plaza is a hive of activity summer and winter but this weekend the pace will quicken even more. The three-day weekend will bring an expected 200 to 400 inquiries from visitors. To supply answers both the westside plaza and the east information booth will be open.

Queen Of Council Crowned At St. Theresa CWL Meeting

The annual meeting of St. Theresa's parish Council of the Catholic Women's League was opened by the League Prayer, and president Mrs. P. Rieger was in the chair. The Queen of the Council of Our Council followed during the singing of "Blessed Virgin Mary".

Correspondence included letters from Bishop Doyle re TV program held on May 7. Letters from R. Uyeyama, secretary of the Rutland Student Council, from Andrew Schneider, missionary in Italy, and appreciation cards from St. Peter's family and from Mrs. Dundas re 25 year scrolls.

The membership fee will be held on Sunday, May 13, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. All new and existing members will be held at 3.30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

A past president pin will be presented to the retiring president.

The new conveners selected for the coming year include: Spiritual, Mrs. Mary Smith; Press and publicity, Mrs. Mary Lee; Canadian League, Mrs. T. De Groot; social action, Mrs. B. Black; Membership, Mrs. J. Schermann; report forms, Mrs. J. Falch; Girl Guides, Mrs. A. Bach; radio, TV and films, Mrs. M. Zvonarich; card, Mrs. K. Levesque; religious articles, Mrs. D. Levesque; public meetings rep., Mrs. M. Gekowicz; raffles, Mrs. Heensherk; Missions, Mrs. Julia Ottenbreit.

It was moved to donate the balance of our pledge to the Rutland Central Project. The raffle was won by Mrs. Joyce Schermann. The meeting was closed with the recitation of the Act of Consecration led by Father Flynn.

Greece Still A Man's World But Nature Lends A Hand

ATHENS (Reuters) — Greece is still a man's world, although nature is giving the weaker sex a helping hand.

The national statistical service's latest estimate is that the excess of women in a total population of 8,500,000 Greeks now is 250,000. Mainly because of the longevity, the surplus is increasing at the rate of 3,000 women a year.

With so wide a choice before him, the Greek man of today is apt to relate the value of a woman he might choose to his wife in the size of her dowry. The accepted minimum for a dowry nowadays has become an apartment or a plot of land.

Since 1956, a dowry fund, run under the auspices of the Greek sovereigns, has been distributing "dowry savings" deposits to needy girls. The minimum deposit of 1,000 drachmas (about $33) increases through interest to 7,000 drachmas (about $235) in 25 years. This sum provides the girls with the means of helping their husbands to set up a home and found a family.

MARRIAGE RATE DROPS
Each year about 71,000 Greek men, mostly between the ages of 25 and 34, get married. Greek girls marry mainly between the ages of 20 and 29. At the last census, in 1961, 4,260,864 Greeks were married, widowed or divorced out of a population of 8,388,321.

Subsequent figures indicated that the men are becoming less inclined to get married, and divorce is on the increase. Both factors are attributed by sociologists to changing moral values in modern life.

With the loosening of morals, the illegitimacy rate in Greece has reached a figure of one in 90 live births, considered high in a country where old-fashioned ancestral traditions largely prevail.

Mrs. Lena Coutsochera, president of the Greek Women's Union, says the chief single obstacle to raising the standards of the Greek woman has been illiteracy.

Greek villagers with meagre means have always favored boys having an education and the girls staying at home to help with the household chores.

Women won the right to vote in 1952 and female voters in Greece now total 2,500,000.

Swank Spas Pare Figures For Coming Bikini Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Body maintenance shops are getting ready for the bikini season, reshaping women who have the summer for physical fitness.

From California to Maine, swank spas work at removing a woman's body and rekindling her spirit in luxurious surroundings.

It's part of the beauty people's scheme to show a woman how attractive she can be if she tries—really tries—with herbal baths, soothing saunas, needle showers, scientific body massages and exercise.

"Anyone can do anything to their figure they want to if they work on it," says Miss Marjorie Craig, who puts a coterie of women through their paces at Elizabeth Arden's park salon on Fifth Avenue.

For the woman dedicated to getting into beautiful shape, it can cost $1,100 for two weeks at the Neuman-Marcus Greenhouse in Texas. $385 a week at Palm Springs Spa in California or $475 a week at Hambletonian Spa, Goshen, N.Y.

IT'S 5000 A WEEK
The Elizabeth Arden Maine Chance Farms in Maine and Arizona charge about $500 a week.

Elizabeth Arden also offers a day of instant morale—and chiseling for $50 at salons from Honolulu to Paris.

For teenagers, the Greenhouse will open its doors this summer for two weeks of instruction on makeup, care of the hair, the proper way to walk, talk and sit, planning a wardrobe and acting as hostess. It costs $275 for two weeks, $500 for one.

"If you want to look good at 50, you must start at 15," said Miss Philomena Morgan, 25, who blushes faces at the Arden emporium on Fifth Avenue.

It is a profitable business for the beauty firms and helps them sell a variety of cosmetics known to Chlopatra.

Immaculate Conception Council CWL To Hold June Tea And Sale

The regular meeting of the Immaculate Conception Parish Council of the Catholic Women's League was held on Thursday, May 12, 1966 at St. Joseph's Hall.

The past president, Mrs. John Olinger, introduced the new executive to the meeting. Mrs. C. Schaeffer, president; Mrs. J. Neesham, secretary; Mrs. L. V. Campbell, treasurer.

Reports of the various committees were read. The representative of the Sunvale Community announced that a tea and sale of work was to be held sometime in June and urged all members to attend.

The date of the Immaculate Conception Parish Council Membership Tea was set for Wednesday, May 18 in St. Joseph's Hall, 2 to 5 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by the "Young Folks".

The president outlined the proposed testimonial banquet to be sponsored by the League to honour members of 25 years standing, past presidents, and charter members. A date will be set in the near future.

Mrs. Schaeffer reported on the CWL Diocesan Convention which she attended in Creston. The theme chosen this year was "Social Action and Welfare".

The Spiritual Director, Father Anderson, gave an interesting report on the convocation held at Notre Dame College during the week-end of May 8 and 9.

Mrs. C. Schaeffer thanked the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. A. Aude, Mrs. M. C. Burke and Mrs. J. Redford.

Tiny South Vietnamese Woman Holds Mayor's Job Despite War

DALAT, South Viet Nam (AP)—Nguyen Thi Han, 41, a tiny Vietnamese woman, has problems that would make many men pull their hair. She deals with risks, war, a town's food supply and her law practice.

Mrs. Han is the only woman mayor in South Viet Nam. Her domain is this mountain resort, 185 miles northwest of Saigon, with which it is linked only by air. The Viet Cong has cut off the only road.

The mayor was born in North Viet Nam, but has adopted Dalat, a town of 5,000 people. She moved here in 1954 after the Geneva Agreement divided Viet Nam.

"I came with my own parents, my husband and my children," she said in an interview. "My parents died here and are buried here in Dalat, so Dalat is my hometown."

She has two sons, both studying engineering in Canada at the University of Montreal. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky appointed Mrs. Han March 18. Since then, student riots have resulted in seven deaths, the burning of the Hotel Dalat, and the burning of the town's only radio station.

"I couldn't have guessed I would have to deal with such a political situation," she said in an interview. "Now we are trying to do our best to bring Dalat to a normal situation..."

Dalat long has been popular as a honeymoon resort for Vietnamese newweds. The French flocked to this relatively cool area when they ruled Indochina.

More recently, American troops fighting in Viet Nam have come here for rest and recreation.

Mothers Discuss Favorite Subject

OTTAWA (CP) — Children seem to be the most interesting conversational topic for a mother, whether her husband is the prime minister, the leader of the Opposition or a storekeeper in Riviere-Madeleine, Que.

So naturally, when Canada's Mother of the Year, Mrs. Jeanne-Pauline Desbureaux, 52, met Mrs. Lester B. Pearson and later Mrs. John Diefenbaker they talked about children.

Petite brown-haired Mrs. Desbureaux, who speaks only French, was accompanied on her first call by Mrs. Hédard Rodière, pretty blonde wife of the federal fisheries minister.

Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Desbureaux discussed children and charge accounts, agreeing youngsters should learn to live within their means.

TEACH THEIR PARENTS?
"Then perhaps they can teach their parents," said Mrs. Desbureaux, president of the Credit Union Riviere-Madeleine.

At the Diefenbakers', Mrs. J. Russell Keays, wife of the MP for Gape, came along to smooth language difficulties.

Mrs. Diefenbaker and Mrs. Desbureaux agreed that Canadian children should learn French and English from the beginning in school. But Mrs. Diefenbaker, a former Ontario school inspector, said exchanges of teachers or students would present problems because of the different school systems in every province.

South Okanagan And Similkameen Women's Institute Conference

On Friday, May 6, the South Okanagan and Similkameen Women's Institutes held their annual conference at Okanagan Falls with 115 members and delegates present. Seventeen institutes were represented.

The conference began with registration at 9 a.m. with the hostess institute serving coffee. At 10 a.m. the district president, Mrs. Gordon Shaw, called the meeting to order with a short address of welcome.

After the singing of "O Canada" and repeating the "Mary Stewart Collier" in honour of the hostess president, Mrs. Thelma Dejean, brought a few words of welcome to the conference. She introduced the provincial representative to the conference, Mrs. Morris Thomas, who welcomed the guests on behalf of Okanagan Falls. He complimented the institutes on the work that has been done and is still being done in urban and country districts throughout the world. Mrs. E. Cooney, Okanagan Centre, thanked Mr. Thomas.

Mrs. T. Wharton, district secretary, read the names of members of the various institutes who had passed away since the last conference, followed by an appropriate poem written by a WI member entitled "She is Forever Identified". The assembly then stood for a moment of silence. Mrs. L. Snow, of Winfield, sang "Homecoming".

The introduction of guests and district board members by Mrs. G. Shaw, were Mrs. R. C. Palmer, provincial president, Mrs. R. C. Ford and Mrs. J. S. Scott, provincial directors, Mrs. W. S. Rothwell, district past president, Mrs. T. Wharton, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Newman, director and Miss Thelma Dejean, Okanagan Falls president. Beautiful courages made by Mrs. B. Scott were presented to all the head table guests and district board in remembrance of the late Mrs. John Calhoun, district vice-president, a courage was sent to her daughter, Mrs. H. Walters, of Kelowna.

Mrs. A. J. Robinson, Past-president, was in charge of nominations. Mrs. M. Hagg, Tealville, resolutions and Mrs. T. Wharton, courtesy.

The various reports were sub-

AROUND TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. William Spear have returned from a three-week holiday in Toronto where they visited the former's sister, Mrs. G. McIntosh, and his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. E. Patrick, and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Spear, who were very impressed with the new Toronto City Hall, were still glad to get home to what they consider our lovely warm weather.

Enjoying the golf and trail rides at the Mountain Shadows Country Club during the past 10 days have been Mr. and Mrs. J. B. O'Connor and family from Calgary.

Guests of Mrs. Christopher Korman are Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Pearson from Calgary.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Huether were the former's brother and the latter's sister Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huether from Calgary.

The Kelowna Wagon Wheelers will hold a Square Dance Party at night in the Winfield Hall on June 4 at 8 p.m. George Fyall will act as MC and refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome. Mark the date on your calendars, square dancers.

Visiting Dr. and Mrs. A. W. N. Drutt at Pine Crest is Mrs. Irene Balwin from Denver, Colorado.

Visiting Mrs. Betty Jones, Glenwood Ave., are Mr. and Mrs. G. Hollingsworth and Mr. and Mrs. E. Erwin from Rivers, Man.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kuhn, Bryden road, were their son and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kuhn. Dr. Kuhn is on the staff of Canadian Union College near Lacombe, Alta.

A surprise bridal shower was held in honor of Miss Eileen Teed whose marriage to Melvin Steinke of Williams Lake will take place on May 22 in the Rutland Seventh-day Adventist Church. Mrs. Alex Perry was co-hostess of the shower at which the bride-elect received many lovely and useful gifts.

ANN LANDERS

Those Who Demand Boy Fall Hardest For Girl

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are expecting our first child in about eight weeks. We've been married seven years and had almost given up hope, so of course this child means a great deal to us.

I can truthfully say I don't care if it's a boy or a girl, and as first my husband didn't care either. But these past couple of months he has been making some very unsettling remarks to friends, relatives - anyone who will listen. Last night he told my mother, "If it isn't a boy, it's for sale."

I laughed it off when he first began to say such things, but it's no longer funny. I'm beginning to think he actually has his heart set on a boy and if it's a girl he will be terribly disappointed.

We live in a small town and everyone has heard about my husband's remarks. I've had a difficult pregnancy and this isn't making it any easier. Please give me some help.—WEARY

Dear Weary: The King of Sweden has a throne problem. What's your knucklehead's excuse?

Expectant fathers who voice a preference for either a boy or a girl baby cause their wives embarrassment and anxiety. Moreover they look like fools because, invariably, the ones who scream the loudest for boys end up so goofy about their daughters that they are positively obnoxious. Show this column to your husband and let's hope it will persuade him to keep his mouth shut.

Dear Ann Landers: Eight years ago our daughter Melanie married a young man who was notably lacking in ambition. Her father and I tried to make her understand that if she married the young man she might have to do without many of the things she took for granted.

The day before Melanie eloped she screamed at us, "I don't care if we never have a dime."

All I want is HIM!" So now she has "him" (who prefers to work a night shift so he can play golf during the day) plus five children and plenty of unpaid bills.

Last night Melanie said it would be very nice if her father and I gave them $5,000 so they could get out of debt and take a trip. "We've never been anywhere since our honeymoon," she complained, which is, of course, true.

When her father failed to show much enthusiasm for Melanie's suggestion, both she and her husband became hostile. They called us "tightwads," selfish and abnormal. They claim that parents who can afford to help their children out with money gifts have a moral obligation to do so. "Why wait until you die?" Melanie shouted. "If you give us money now we won't have to pay inheritance taxes!"

Will you comment, Please?—THE R'S

Dear R's: Parents have moral obligations to raise their children to be independent and self-reliant. They do not owe their children gifts and continued financial support after marriage. And they don't owe them an inheritance either.

Giving can be a joy, but your children are trying to chisel money from you—and that takes it out of the gift class.

Your daughter is employing emotional blackmail. Don't let her ugly remarks push you into giving her or her golf-playing husband one dime more than you want to give them.

FLIES AFTER ALL
B.E.I.P.E.R. England (CP)—Martin Hallsworth, 4, watched Peter Pan on television and wanted to fly too, so he jumped out of his second-floor window, 20 feet up. His bruised head was soothed by the offer of a free flight from a Derbyshire airline.

MARSHAL, ROSEBORO MEET FOR FIRST TIME

All's Quiet at Dodger Park

By MURRAY CHASE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles Dodgers are not trying to beat Jim Marshall. The Dodgers, who haven't beaten the San Francisco Giants since 1953, edged the Giants 2-1 in 11 innings Tuesday night after hitting Marshall to a tie in 10 innings.

The last time they beat him was April 20, 1955, when they squeaked by 2-1. He has four straight victories and an 18-4 lifetime mark against the Dodgers.

The Dodgers, who managed just five hits in the first eight innings, tied the game 1-1 in the ninth. Maury Wills beat out a bunt, scored to third as Jim Gilliam singled and came home on Willie Davis' fly to Willie May in center field.

Marshall (14) stopped the Dodgers in the 10th, then left for a pinch hitter in the 11th. His earned run average only slightly higher at 3.78.

Marshall was making his first appearance in Dodger Stadium since he hit John Roseboro on the head with a bat there last August.

REDS BLANK METS

In other National League games, Cincinnati Reds blanked New York Mets 4-0. Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Atlanta Braves 5-2 and Philadelphia Phillies trounced St. Louis Cardinals 5-3. Ram washed out Houston at Chicago.

The Dodgers finally won in the 13th inning when Wes Parker led off with a single against Frank Lary, dashed to third on Wills' single and continued home as right fielder Oie Brown fired the ball into the Los Angeles dugout.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney won his third game without a defeat, stopping New York on two hits and retiring the last 23 men he faced. Don Patekovich drove in a home while Vada Pinson knocked in a pair with a single and a grounder.

Don Glendon's two-run single chimaxed a three-run rally in the sixth inning that carried Pittsburgh past Atlanta. Maury Wills completed the Pirates comeback, doubling across a run in the seventh and stealing home. Hank Aaron homered for the Braves.

The Phillies got two bases on a walk in the seventh inning for their victory over St. Louis. Nelson Briles walked, Dick Groat, forcing in the tie-breaking run, then gave way to Joe Hoerner, who walked John Callison.

Oliva Lifts Minnesota Twins Into Fifth Spot In American

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

They Oliva won't need a travel agent if he ever decides to run. Eddie Stanky has volunteered for the job and there's a line forming behind the Chicago White Sox pitch.

Oliva crashed a pair of long home runs Tuesday night, powering Minnesota to an 8-3 victory over the White Sox and prompting Stanky to divulge his travel plans for the Twins' slugger.

"He should be playing in Japan," Stanky said. "He could make a $1,000,000 over there and I'd pay him my way over there. In fact, I know about eight other managers in this league that will pay, too."

Oliva, the two-time American League batting champion, has hit nine homers while lifting his average to .307, tops in the league.

His three-run homer in the first inning and solo shot in the third helped outpace Jim Kaati go the distance for his fourth victory as the Twins climbed into the first division for the first time since the opening week of the season.

MAILED THE YANKEES
Elsewhere, Detroit mailed New York Yankees 7-2 behind Dennis McLain's two-hitter and three homers, Cleveland Indians edged Washington Senators 3-2 on Max Alvis' two-run homer and Baltimore Orioles topped Boston Red Sox 4-4 with a four-run rally in the sixth inning. California was rained out at Kansas City.

The Twins, defending AL champions, moved into fifth place, one-half game ahead of Chicago, with their fifth victory in the last six games.

Oliva's home runs, which traveled 465 and 440 feet, offset Chicago homers by John Romano and Floyd Robinson. Kaati, 4-3, and Zoilo Versalles also homered for Minnesota.

McLain, whose sixth victory tied the Twins' Camilo Pascual for the league lead, walked three straight Yankee batters and was touched for two runs on Roger Maris' sacrifice fly and Roger Knapton single—all in the first inning.

The Detroit right-hander pitched only one other hit—a double by Maris in the fourth—and retired the last 16 Yankees in order.

TIED THE SCORE
Bill Freehan's homer and Don Wert's sacrifice fly tied the score in the fifth, a two-run homer by Don Demeter sent the Tigers ahead in the sixth and a three-run shot by Willie Horton wrapped it up in the eighth.

Alvis' homer off Diego Segui capped a three-run uprising by the Indians in the sixth and preserved Sam McDowell's unbeaten record. McDowell was lifted in the fifth with the Senators ahead 2-0. Don McMahon, winner Tom Kelley and Bob Alvin pitched hitless relief for the Indians over the last 4-1-3 innings.

A two-run triple by Luis Aparicio keyed Baltimore's sixth-inning outburst, which shot the Orioles ahead 3-3 and nullified Rico Petrocelli's grand slam homer for the Red Sox.

Petrocelli, whose two errors in the first inning had helped the Orioles to three runs, gave Boston a 4-4 lead in the fourth with his second bases-loaded homer of the season.

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

By RON DOLLAND

A sporting event which will parallel Kelowna's hosting of the Allan Cup series in the late 80's, the Packers' trip to Russia and the annual hill climb will take over on Okanagan Lake in July when 15-18 of the world's top unlimited hydroplanes compete for the British Columbia Cup. In fact from what I have seen of the hydro, the Centennial event will surpass the excitement caused by the aforementioned events.

What exactly are hydroplanes? They are 1,000 pounds of fury which will travel on water at speeds approaching 200 m.p.h. They represent an investment of tens of thousands of dollars.

More specifically a hydroplane is a propeller driven racing boat, which at full speed is almost airborne. When traveling at full speed only three points of the boat make contact with the water.

As a hydroplane operates, the propeller throws a spray out behind of the boat. This huge spray, commonly known as a rooster tail, extends some 40 feet into the air and 75 feet behind the boat. The size of the spray makes it necessary for other drivers to be wary of the rooster tail. The driver could easily be washed down and an engine could be drowned out if the motor is not covered by a cowl.

Hydroplane racing is a disease in the United States. People continually get carried away with their enthusiasm. It could be likened to Grey Cup Week in Canada where everything goes.

One reason hydro creates such a feeling are the drivers that pilot the boats.

One of the boats coming to Kelowna is Miss Bardahl and its driver Ron Musson. Ron Musson has set many records on the hydro circuit during his years as an unlimited driver. Last year Musson pushed his boat to an all-time record best speed of 113.68 miles per hour. The record speed on a straightaway mile course is held by another pilot, Roy Dudy who pushed the Miss U.S. 1 boat to a speed of 200.413 miles per hour.

How is the race run?

First of all the oval is three miles around. Most races follow the format of having three heats of five laps each. Only seven boats are allowed in a race at any one time. Consequently races are divided into heats. The seven fastest boats from the heats then advance to a final heat. At the end of each heat points are awarded to the finishers. The first place finisher accumulates 400 points; 2nd, 300; 3rd, 225; 4th, 160; 5th, 120; 6th, 90 and 7th, 70. At the end of the race the points are added and the boat with the most points is the winner. As in golf, points are awarded towards a National High Point average.

All in all it looks as though Kelowna people are in for "the sporting event" to top all events.

Winter, Irish Men's Winners

Three B.C. cities were represented when the winners of the Okanagan Mainline Tennis tournament were declared in Kelowna Sunday.

Pam Hunter of Vancouver walked off with the women's singles title defeating Maure Frith, also of Vancouver, 6-3 and 6-3. Penticton got into the act when Bill Barlee won the men's singles championship beating Rowland Schwartz also of Penticton 6-3 and 7-5.

Pam and Dick Hunter teamed up to win the mixed doubles event in the only three-set championship match. The Hunters lost the first set 2-6 but came back to take two straight sets 6-1 and 6-4.

Kelowna tennis enthusiasts weren't let down when Ernie Winter and Claire Irish teamed up to win the men's doubles event. Winter and Irish downed Bill Barlee and Roland Schwartz in two straight sets 6-4 and 7-4.

From A Hero To A Pauper Gunshot Ends Turpin's Life

LEAMINGTON, England (AP) — The sad riches-to-rags story of Randolph Turpin, former world middleweight champion, ended with a gunshot blast in a dingy back-street cafe Tuesday.

Although police maintained a traditional silence on who did the shooting, friends said the 38-year-old Turpin had been depressed lately.

In the same incident Turpin's 17-month-old daughter, Carmen, was seriously injured with two gunshot wounds and taken to a hospital.

Turpin was found dead with a gun near the body in his wife's transport cafe in Leamington Spa, about 150 miles north of London.

The spot was not far away from the town's main street, where the whole community turned out to give Turpin a hero's reception in July, 1951.

Turpin had just beaten Sugar Ray Robinson for the world middleweight title and was on top of the world.

Just 64 days later Turpin went to New York and lost the title to Robinson on a knockout.

Turpin lived on boxing but never reached the top again.

During his fight career he is believed to have made $500,000. But by 1953 Turpin was bankrupt.

The saddest sight of all in recent years was to see an overweight Turpin performing as a wrestler at $56 a match.

Turpin told friends recently he was worried about a $500 income tax demand which he couldn't pay. There were also fears that the local government council, as part of a development scheme, was going to demolish his wife's cafe, Turpin's main source of livelihood.

Muhammed Ali Given 11-2 Odds In Title Bout With Henry Cooper

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Clay is rated as 11-2 favorite to retain his world heavyweight crown in his fight Saturday with British champion Henry Cooper in London's first heavyweight title fight in 55 years.

The fight has whipped up something approaching hysteria in this sports-mad city.

A sellout crowd of 46,000 is assured at London's open air Arsenal Stadium, the home of one of England's most famous soccer clubs.

Another 40,000 are expected to watch a closed circuit television relay of the fight at about 20 movie theaters. Thousands more will be following the contest on pay-television.

Millions will see the fight in the United States, Canada, Mexico and other countries via the Early Bird Satellite.

ODDS VARY
Bookies, trying desperately to whip up betting interest, have come up with some strange odds.

You've got to lay out $11 to win $2 on Clay. A $2 bet on Cooper will get you $11 if the Briton pulls off the upset of the century.

You can have 7-1 against Cooper winning inside the first three rounds, 5-1 against him winning in rounds four or five, and 1-1 against him pulling it out between the sixth and ninth rounds.

It's 3-1 against Clay in the first three rounds and 4-1 against the American winning between the fourth and seventh.

Promoter Harry Levene and Jarvis Axtaire, managing director of the firm showing the fight on closed circuit television, have teamed up for what is described as the most expensive fight promotion in the history of British boxing.

Clay is reported to be receiving a $200,000 guarantee, with Cooper assured of $112,000, both will collect extra money from ancillary rights.

Levene refused to give any indication of what he expected to collect from the fight. But ticket prices ranged from $58.80 for ringside seats to $3.88 for standing space.

BURNS WON
The last time Britons saw a world heavyweight fight was Feb. 10, 1908, when Tommy Burns of Hanover, Ont., knocked out Jack Palmer in the fourth round.

Clay, strangely subdued compared with the man Londoners last saw in 1963, expects to weigh in around 204 pounds.

"I've got to talk with my fists to win this fight — not my mouth," he said.

He's not forgotten that it was Cooper who floored him in the fourth round of their open fight in London June 18, 1963. Clay went on to win in the next round as Cooper's eyes spurted blood.

"That punch from Cooper was the hardest anyone has landed on me," Clay said.

Clay, 24, unbeaten in 23 pro fights, is rated one of the fastest heavyweights in history. He moves around the ring like a lightweight and relies on an accumulation of punches to soften up his opponent.

Cooper, who celebrated his 32nd birthday last week, can rate himself a lucky man to get the shot at the title.

The Brit's best punch—the only one likely to trouble Clay—is a lightning left hook. That's the punch that put Clay down.

Cooper, British champion since 1959, has won 32 fights, lost 11 and drawn one. He was knocked out in the fifth round by Ingemar Johansson of Sweden in 1967 and has dropped decisions to American fighters such as Zora Folley, Roger Fitch and Amos Johnson.

George Smith, a 55-year-old Scot, will referee the fight lie is the sole person in charge. There are no outside judges under British rules. The referee's verdict is final.

The Sound And The Fury Or The Dignity Of Men

Whatever else may be said about Patrick Watson, late of Seven Days, he is a gentleman. He bowed out this month after what must have been a difficult two weeks for him, ending his association with the CBC with the dignity that befits a real man.

Unfortunately, the same cannot be said for his co-host, Laurier LaPierre. Watson must be heartbroken. And yet he finished off the two remaining programs in the Seven Days series without a trace of a sneer; no snide comments nor innuendo.

LaPierre, it appears, has just begun to fight—although to what avail we do not know.

While we are still old-fashioned enough to believe a boss has the right to fire his employees for public biting of the hand that feeds him, we can summon some sympathy for Watson, mainly because of the way he handled himself.

But LaPierre has no such dignity. He began, shortly after the whole mess became public, by suggesting the executive producer Douglas Lieterman was the one responsible for the program material and format, and he was the one who should have been dismissed first. Loyal to the end.

His most recent outburst came during a speech in Vancouver when he said, bluntly, the CBC management must go. Never mind that the whole matter is before an arbiter appointed by the prime minister, LaPierre has the answer right now.

Such contemptuous behavior will not certainly stand him in good stead with his next employer, for it is a rule of thumb for job-seekers never to criticize the last boss. Perhaps political science professors are not so concerned with this simple courtesy. But who in the communications field would hire a man who may at any moment leap to his soap box and begin a tirade against his bread-and-butter.

Such remarks can only strengthen, in the minds of the public, the growing belief that LaPierre's dismissal was a wise move.

TROUBLE SPOTS BEFORE HIS EYES

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

COLUMN WRONG

Sir: The Rev. D. S. Cathpole, in his column published in your edition of Friday, May 13, is not accurate in stating the location of the extended care unit at the hospital. I wish to set the record straight.

I would refer the Rev. Cathpole to your issue of Thursday, April 21, when your reporter, accurately paraphrasing the annual report of the president of the hospital society at the annual general meeting stated, "tentative completion date for the single story extended care unit is November, 1967. The extended care unit, for chronic or nursing home type patients, will have 70 beds."

On Monday, May 2, the president, Mr. Haddad, read a prepared statement on the hospital to city council, the statement was quoted in full in your issue of Tuesday, May 3. In it the chairman stated, "Since we commenced working drawings, we have been authorized to plan for a 70-bed extended care unit. Extended care is the current terminology used to define a unit which will provide nursing home type care. We have instructed our architects to prepare sketch plans of this unit. It will probably be located at the far west end of the hospital property, facing Strathcona Park."

The foregoing two paragraphs represent factual reporting of publicly made statements by the hospital authority. It would be preferable if the Rev. Cathpole would in future check his information on the hospital with the correct sources.

Yours truly,
C. F. LAVERY,
Administrator.

POLLUTION DEFECT

Sir: Now that Okanagan Pollution Control personnel have finally admitted that the year-old Westbank sewage lagoon, the Kelowna trucking filter and Imperial Apartments sewage treatment plant are all real hazards—as far as lake enrichment is concerned—perhaps the day will soon come when their other too-soluble, inherent defects will be aired publicly.

In other words, that the above-mentioned systems greatly contribute to the general air pollution (probably more so than the recent radioactive fallout) and that hard, insect and rodent access is inevitable, as far as the open standard or "terrace" lagoon is concerned, and what remedial action the pollution control boys are contemplating.

MEANWHILE, I believe the general public as well as the conservationists will be interested to learn of another precedent in the continuing resolution of our absurd, public health-endured scandals.

I refer to the recent out-of-court settlement re pulp mill effluent causing oyster bed pollution in this province.

In my opinion, this classic legal success is of even greater significance than the 1965 Manitoba sewage lagoon awards (Municipality of Charleswood—in the Greater Winnipeg area—and the unfortunate City of Portage la Prairie). This reasoning is based on the fact that the next legal step must surely involve the use of large tracts of land (e.g., "cheap" Indian reservations, etc.) and tidal estuaries (e.g., the Province of B.C. and Nova Scotia) for the treatment and disposal of pulp mill effluents.

Thus, although remedial pollution control measures have been recently catalysed in British Columbia, as far as the Kelowna area and certain other interested countries looking for pollution control leadership.

Perhaps Canada will be the country which other nations will regard as possessing this potential, provided we continue our initiative.

Yours truly,
J. McANULTY, M.D., D.P.H.

structured our architects to prepare sketch plans of this unit. It will probably be located at the far west end of the hospital property, facing Strathcona Park."

OTTAWA REPORT

Allan MacEachen A Man To Watch

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The two rogue elephants of Parliament Hill are locked in the mortal combat which may end the political life of both. Meanwhile the hopeful successors to their crowns are keeping very mute about their ambitions.

There is no open leadership race in progress for either the Conservative or Liberal party today. But lying dogs are many candidates for each.

The Liberal aspirants include the smooth Paul Martin; the ambitious Mitchell Sharp; Bob Winters, the enigmatic Bay Street; the eager Paul Hellyer, and Jean Lesage, strongly Quebecois but proportionately unattractive to some other provinces.

The Conservatives are even more in temporary eclipse. George Hees has calmed his ebullience and plays his parliamentary role very passively. Devine Fulton has covered himself with nation-wide doubts. MacEachen's premier Duff Roblin increasingly fits a cynical Liberal's description of Bob Thompson making a name for himself.

Setting his nation squarely against his eyes, tracing his home lines, and calling out "come along, fellows, follow me into the forest and we will search for new and old truths." Nova Scotia's premier, Bob Stanfield daily looks better by comparison, and Ontario's John Roberts is showing strength and leadership which are sadly lacking on Parliament Hill.

ROBINSON'S CHOICE

Are there no dark horses in either party?

The youth of Canada mistrusts everyone over 30 as much as their elders dislike their immature revolt against tradition. But this cry is echoed in some political circles here, which are looking for men able to lead in the future, yet who won't be out of step with the Seventies.

The combination of qualities sought for party leadership today are varying away from those previously valued; the persuasive tongue, the warm presence, even the willingness to serve, carry no premium with this new thinking. More and more MPs and even senators, and especially the backroom party managers, are looking for other qualities: youth, strength of character, managerial ability, intelligence, and the capacity to weigh alternative policies with statecraft rather than with partisanship.

The Liberals may have just such a character, not noticeably in the parliamentary limelight but for those who notice very obviously in a position of trust and respect in the inner advisory circle of the party. This is the 44-year-old coal-miner's son from Nova Scotia, Allan MacEachen, economist, university professor, and admired parliamentarian since as long ago as 1953 when, shortly after his 33rd birthday, he made his debut and quickly his mark in the House.

A COMING MAN

With this cluster of the self-advertisement of the Sharpe and Hellyers, and among the roaring grand of the Liberal establishment planning for four years past to drag the unwilling Bob Winters back from the wilderness to the hustings, the unadorned and self-reliant claims of "that young professor from Antigonish" have been overlooked.

With the reserve of the true Scot—a profile I wrote for the Edinburgh "Scotsman" prompted letters from Scotland still claiming "MacEachen" that Nova Scotia's lower-house of brains just attends to today's job and makes no play for the future. His speeches across Canada, as I have pointed out, contain attractive and novel ideas. His mastery of parliamentary procedure and practice often guide his party and his leader back onto the tracks. As minister of labor and one of the unassuming launching pad as minister of health and welfare, he has mastered important aspects of domestic policy, but as yet his experience of international affairs is limited to two "bat roles" at the United Nations.

Watch Allan MacEachen.

CANADA'S STORY

Religious Visions Led On To Montreal

By BOB BOWMAN

Montreal was founded on May 18, 1642. When Maisonneuve and his pioneers landed on the shore, there was a religious service at which Father Vimont made a remarkable prediction. He said "That which you see is only a grain of mustard seed. But it is cast by hands so pious and so animated by faith and religion that it must be that God has great designs for it. He makes use of such instruments for His work. I doubt not that this little grain may produce a great tree, that it will make wonderful progress some day, that it will multiply and stretch out on every side."

What a wonderful thing it would be if Maisonneuve, Jeanne Mance, Father Vimont and the others could see Canada's largest city today, and Expo '67 next year!

Montreal had a religious background. The story is that Jerome de la Dauvergne of Anjou and Jacques Oller, a Paris priest had visions while at prayer, ordering them to found an order that would establish a hospital in Montreal. Dauvergne had never heard of Montreal and went to Paris to try to learn something about it. While there, by accident, he met Father Oller, and they realized they had the same mission. Working together they found the Sulpician order, which secured a grant of land on the Island of Montreal.

Then a company was formed to develop it, with Maisonneuve as its head.

The expedition got to Quebec in August, 1641 but Governor Montmagny was opposed to it going further up the river. He knew the danger from the Iroquois, and also it was getting late in the season.

Maisonneuve was not afraid. He told Montmagny "Were all the trees on the Island of Montreal to be changed into so many Iroquois, it is a point of honor for me to go there and establish a colony." However, he agreed to wait until spring, and the members of the expedition spent the time building boats to carry them up the river.

OTHER EVENTS ON MAY 18:

1675 Marquette died in Lake Michigan area.

Feast of Assumption Mass first celebrated at Church of Notre-Dame-de-Bon-Secours, first stone church in Montreal.

1765 Half of Montreal destroyed by fire.

1765 Seven thousand United Empire Loyalists landed at Parrytown, N.B.

1785 Parrytown incorporated and name changed to Saint John. It is the oldest incorporated city in Canada.

1822 Bank of Montreal incorporated by royal sanction.

1824 William Lyon Mackenzie issued "Colonial Advocate".

1837 Lower Canada banks suspended payments until 1839.

1846 Kingston, Ontario received city charter.

A Matter Of Opinion

(The Globe and Mail)

The principle which governs any honest news medium is simple to state and most difficult and delicate to follow: It is, first, that the news which it presents shall, as far as human fallibility makes it possible, be complete and objective, uncontaminated by the views of the persons who collect and present it, and, second, that when opinions of the persons governing the medium are presented, they shall be separate from the news, and clearly presented as opinions and not as facts.

The ideal of absolute division between fact and opinion can never be achieved, because facts must be selected and interpreted, and it is exceedingly difficult to be certain where selection and interpretation leave off and opinion begins. But the ideal must always be attempted.

If this is important and difficult for the average privately owned newspaper, radio or television entity, it is doubly important and difficult for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. A private publisher or president, having divided fact from opinion, can properly express, or permit his employees to express, personal opinions, because everybody knows that he and they speak only for themselves. But the CBC must do more than this; it must not only divide fact from opinion, it must make sure that the opinions expressed are those of the owners, the Canadian people.

CBC President Alphonse Ouimet, in his statement to the standing parliamentary committee on broadcasting last week, rightly placed this principle at the root of the present conflict between the staff of the Seven Days program and CBC management. In speaking of public affairs programs, of which Seven Days is one, he said:

"First, there is the relationship of CBC, as a publicly owned information medium, to public opinion. That relationship raises the question: should the corporation try to lead, form or direct this public opinion or should it preserve a studious neutrality, presenting various issues as completely as possible and leaving the public to choose? It has always been CBC policy to adopt the course of freedom of choice for the public. This attitude is expressed in the statement that 'the CBC has no point of view' in controversial matters . . . It is of first importance that the CBC provide a platform which others can use to influence public opinion, but it must not mount that platform itself . . . Our experience with Seven Days indicates that its people do not agree with the corporation's views."

The CBC, in other words, must not be afraid of presenting controversial opinions, and it has not been. But the CBC must be very afraid of presenting its own opinions, for if those who work in the CBC permit their own views to govern the selection and presentation of opinions, only their opinions—and not the many and various opinions of the Canadian people—will be selected for presentation or presented favorably. Of this discrimination the Seven Days people have been guilty.

Using the techniques of camera, sound and interview, of tone of voice and facial expression, of selection and presentation, they have frequently shown people and events of which they approved in a good light, and people and events of which they disapproved in a bad light. They have denied the Canadian people the right to see both sides equally and form their own opinions.

Mr. Ouimet had other justified charges to lay against the Seven Days people. They had at times used improper methods to get program material which "involved deceit, misrepresentation, invasion of privacy, and possibly the simulation of actual situations." As when they tried to trap Pierre Severyn into an interview; as when they kept their rolling cameras pointed at a young girl in bed with two boys.

They had tried to set up a corporation within the corporation, rejecting the management of management, writing their own rules. No business, Crown or private, can be run that way.

But the most serious charge against the Seven Days people is that they usurped the airwaves of the Canadian people to express their own opinions and shape ours. This goes to the heart of what we mean the CBC to be. Do we mean that it shall be a mirror held up to us, its owners, to reflect accurately our many opinions, that we may have the information on which to make up our own minds? Or do we mean that it shall be distorted into a personal tool by which CBC producers, after they have decided what we should think, make up our minds for us?

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Alcoholics THINK They Fool World

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

I am a woman of 40 and desperately seeking help. I am an alcoholic. Don't tell me to go to AA because that would mean exposing myself to my family. I would rather die.

I have tried many times on my own, but no good. I have heard there is a potent drug that can help if the patient is willing and really wants to stop. Is this true—MRS. M.

"AA" means Alcoholics Anonymous, and the "Anonymous" means just what it says, so I do not see why going to AA would expose your problem to your family.

I have discussed this with AA members, and one of the penetrating replies was, "And just how is she going to explain it to her family, anyway, when she is sober all the time?"

You see, secret alcoholics characteristically think they have everybody fooled. Drinkers who have been through the mill tell me this is very seldom true. Almost always it is a case of friends and family pretending they don't know, when they do. Therefore it may well be, Mrs. M., that exposing your problem to the family would be no surprise at all, and you would find only understanding and support in your determination to quit.

AA achieves its finest results with people who voluntarily and sincerely seek its help, and I think you genuinely want help. Why not try it?

However, in cities as big as yours, there are alcohol clinics doing excellent work. There is one where you live. It is also possible that the clinic could refer you to a private physician specializing in your problem.

Yes, there are potent drugs which make a person violently ill if alcohol is consumed. This sound foolproof but it isn't. The flaw is that if a person really wants another drink, he always can find one way or another to stop taking the drug. The real cure lies deeper: Helping the patient develop a compelling desire to quit.

The drug, however, is useful in some cases, but it needs close supervision by a physician or clinic.

Dear Dr. Molner: I've been told that once a woman starts taking hormones, she has to continue them. Is this so? Will they make hair grow, or make her masculine?—D.D.P.

You have been misinformed. Hormones are helpful in getting a woman past the more annoying aspects of menopause, but there is no reason why they have to be continued indefinitely.

In the amounts prescribed for this purpose, as well as in the type of hormones used (largely estrogen, or the "female hormone"), there is no acceleration of hair growth and certainly no masculinization.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a low white blood count—3,500 instead of 7,000. It is checked every month but it never gets any higher. Could you account for this?—MRS. W.

The white cell count normally ranges from 5,000 to 10,000. A persistently low count may be due to a blood disorder or to a chronic toxic condition. Only a complete blood study can tell the story. Various drugs, such as sedatives and tranquilizers, can suppress the white count.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a woman of 57. About nine months ago one of my breasts began to grow. X-rays showed nothing. What is your opinion?—MRS. M. W.

It is not easy to give an opinion because this is an unusual occurrence and I do not have a specific description of the enlargement.

Evidently your physician did not discover a lump and the X-ray was normal. You can take comfort in the knowledge that mammography (X-ray of the breast) is 95 per cent accurate in detecting any malignant disease.

The enlargement could be from unusual hormonal changes at your age. Obviously you should have a periodic checkup by your doctor.

Note to A.V.R.: Sorry, but I look with extreme doubt on the possibility of a heating gadget that restores lack of circulation caused by varicose veins.

Rutland now has a railway station, albeit a small one, and the name is not "Hood," as first decided by the R.R. officials. There is a waiting room and a baggage room, and the name "Rutland" is on the building.

JAPAN-CANADA TRADE UP

Japanese trade with Canada increased again in 1965. Exports from Japan jumped to $140 million from $134 million the previous year. The trade gap between Canada and Japan widened as Canadian exports to Japan dropped to $52 million from $55 million.

Are U.S. Bosses Accurate In Viet Nam Assessment?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

How accurate have U.S. leaders been in assessing developments and prospects in South Viet Nam?

A recapitulation of some of their less-lucky statements suggests that, with steadily regularity events mock both their assessments and predictions.

Time after time Washington expresses surprise at a sudden stormy development in Saigon's politics. Now, once again, Washington is surprised as it looks at a new crisis, this one evolving out of the 1963 turmoil which brought down the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Only a week ago, State Secretary Dean Rusk told the Senate foreign relations committee that "some interpretations may have been overdrawn" in the reporting of a statement by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Ky, discussing prospective South Viet Nam elections, said it would take at least a year to prepare orderly transition to civilian rule and be expected to remain in power that long. Rusk said Ky was "not going to try to stand in the way of the constitutional and electoral process."

A few days later Washington received another in a long series of Viet Nam jolts when Ky sent government troops into Da Nang to seize that strategic port city from his political opponents.

FEAR CIVIL WAR

Ky's action immediately ignited the anger of the politically powerful Buddhists—the same Buddhists who brought down Diem. Fears were expressed of civil war in a nation already tormented by a frustrating war with Viet Cong guerrillas.

The current upheaval came while Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was in Washington for consultations. This pattern is familiar, too.

In the summer of 1963, the fateful Buddhist crisis built up during the vacation of Ambassador Frederick Nolting.

In his one year as ambassador, July, 1964, to June, 1965, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor left Saigon for Washington four times. During those of those occasions there were political upheavals in Saigon. Only once did Taylor return to find in office the same men who were there when he left. Perhaps the least lucky with predictions and assessments has been Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

In September, 1963, McNamara and Taylor visited Viet Nam. They returned to President Kennedy, and the major part of the U.S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965 and that the need for major U.S. involvement would end then.

Two months later a military coup brought down the Diem regime.

NEW MAN 'POPULAR'

Of the new top man, Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, McNamara said Jan. 27, 1964, the Minh's government "has considerably more popular support than its predecessor."

Three days later, Minh was evicted by a coup and Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh was in. A few days later McNamara said he and President Johnson were delighted with Gen. Khanh's plans to step up the war. On Feb. 18 he said "the United States will pull out most troops by 1965, even if the anti-Communist drive falters."

Keeping all American troops in South Viet Nam, he said, "would be a waste of our personnel."

What if the South Vietnamese effort should cave in?

"I don't believe that losing in hundreds of thousands of troops is the solution," said McNamara. He said the administration had no plans to do so.

Today there are 225,000 U.S. troops in South Viet Nam. In July, 1965, McNamara was back in South Viet Nam, now under Premier Ky's rule after a bewildering series of coups. In November, 1965, ending yet another visit, he said his most dramatic impression was that "we have stopped losing the war."

Last week, McNamara conceded that political turmoil in South Viet Nam cut U.S. military effectiveness, but predicted "that will terminate shortly."

Then South Viet Nam blew up again.

ON THE PRAIRIES

Moose Jaw To Be Noisy

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP) — You may not be able to hear yourself think this weekend in Moose Jaw, but nobody is expected to mind it at all.

Thursday the three-day annual Kinsmen's International band festival will be getting underway with 46 bands and 3,000 performers competing. Last year there were 42 bands and 2,000 performers.

Entries have been received from Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and adjoining U.S. states.

We have been told it is the only festival of its kind in Canada and the largest on the continent, says Jerry Dommer, chairman of this year's event, the 18th since its inception in 1948.

A local musician persuaded the Kinsmen to sponsor the festival to combat the waning popularity of bands after the Second World War. The inaugural was a modest affair with a $250 budget and 12 competing bands all from Saskatchewan.

Our biggest this year will be 42 bands, Mr. Dommer said. MAS 12 CLASSES

The festival, restricted to 12 competitors for bands, symphonies and solo performers. Shields trophies and $3,000 each are awarded to the top bands with certificates, medals and scholarships going to winners in other categories.

Howard Cable, internationally-known Canadian composer and arranger for the North American Air Defense band, heads the list of 10 adjudicators from Canada and the United States.

Mr. Dommer said the festival receives full cooperation from the musicians union, which offers exemptions for professional guest performers.

This year's guests are the band of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and jazz trumpeter Dick Rudebusch of Milwaukee.

The French are expected to reply this week.

They can be counted on to say the West Germans are demanding too high a price. They may even threaten, or at least imply, they will start withdrawing troops if the price is not lowered. France has two army divisions and an air force wing stationed in southwestern Germany.

So far, both sides have carefully avoided overt threats.

The U.S. and West German governments, supported by the British, say their main object is to see to it that in case of war, there are sufficient arrangements for working with the French.

The West Germans have another worry. They don't like to see French troops on their soil outside a joint command, because it makes the French look too much like an occupation force.

What they want is a form of words to make it appear French troops here are under some kind of German authority.

West German politicians set great store on good relations with France. Ex-chancellor Konrad Adenauer especially sees in them an end to the spectre of war in Europe.

The question is whether the West German government should seek these good relations separately, as de Gaulle would prefer, or rely on the backing of the United States and Britain, as it has so far in the current crisis.

The French bluff is not based on two strong hand either. Many Frenchmen set a high value on having their troops in Germany.

To pull out of Germany altogether would weaken French influence on the future of Europe whenever the day comes that a final treaty is to be signed to end an end to the Second World War.

De Gaulle wouldn't want to have it said then he was the one who yielded the place of France among the post-war Big Four who set their troops on to see to it that in case of

Dressen Suffers Second Attack

DETROIT (AP) — If Detroit Tiger manager Charlie Dressen had any inkling he might be having another heart attack, he kept it a secret from everyone.

"We all found out about it together," said Bob Swift, who became the interim manager of the American League baseball club for the second time in as many seasons when Dressen, 67, was admitted to hospital Monday.

A hospital spokesman said Dressen might have suffered another heart attack because he complained of pains in the arm and chest. Hospital officials said it will be "several days" before it can be determined whether Dressen has had any heart damage.

Charlie went to one of the back rooms with the doctor and catcher Bill Freehan Sunday and he said his blood pressure was better than Freehan's, Swift said.

Clay Predicting Quick Knockout

LONDON (AP) — World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he will knock out Henry Cooper in their May 21 title fight at London's Arsenal soccer stadium.

"I will knock Cooper cold with a good, clean punch," he said Monday.

Clay stopped Cooper with cut eyes in the fifth round of their previous London fight in 1963. Asked if he planned to cut up Cooper again, Clay retorted: "I do not deliberately cut people. Cooper is too nice a man for me even to think of such a thing."

Clay put in six devastating rounds with spinning partner Jimmy Ellis at his White City Stadium gym Monday.

Ellis tried a fast left hook—Cooper's best punch—on Clay, but the champion steered it off target with his own left and cracked a right on Ellis' jaw.

Later Clay's entourage descended on the sedate Lord's Cricket Ground to watch the West Indian tourists play Marylebone Cricket Club.

Clay, who had never seen cricket before declared: "I like it. It's not too slow for me."

Candy From U.S. 'Poisoned Kids'

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — The North Viet Nam news agency claimed today U.S. aggressors and their paid agents distributed poisoned candies to children of a South Vietnamese village and "seven fell dead on the spot."

The agency report, monitored here, said that the candies were handed out by members of South Vietnamese rural construction teams and intelligence and social and medical groups during visits to two strategic hamlets last February.

Drama Fest Had Its Laughter -Now Deals With Heavier Fare

VICTORIA (CP) — The Dominion Drama Festival had its first night of comedy Monday, a pleasing presentation by the MAC Theatre Society of Calgary, and now settles back into heavier fare for five more days.

Tonight the festival will offer Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman, presented by the University of New Brunswick Drama Society.

The Knack, Monday night's fast-moving comedy by Ann Jellicoe, drew high praise from adjudicator Marjorie Goring, the second night in a row that the noted British actor-director found almost faultless productions.

"The Knack is an enchanting play. I'm glad it was written in Britain. It makes me think there is a lot of life in old England yet," Mr. Goring said.

He said acting, directing, sets and costumes "were done absolutely beautifully." An altogether delightful and charming presentation.

"I find it very hard to find fault with this group—but it is an adjudicator's job to seek out discrepancies."

"There was a small set change I would like to have seen made; also, in the third act, the players seemed to be consciously trying for a short time, to be funny."

SHOULD HAVE CRIED

He said Sharon Pollack "should have burst into tears when she is first kissed—but she didn't," as she played Nancy, a sweet and simple girl lured to three bachelors' apartment in London to be seduced.

Mr. Goring said Michael Ball as a young Londoner who has "the knack" of attracting females gave a "marvellous performance—dead serious, just as it should be."

Opening night Sunday the adjudicator praised Vancouver Little Theatre Association for their production of August Strindberg's The Father.

Regional festival adjudicator Jacques Zouvi of Montreal said the UNB group gave him "one of the most enjoyable evenings I have had in a long time." He praised director Alvin Shaw for his beautiful handling of the play—a dramatic, yet down to earth.

David Attis, a young law student at UNB, won the regional best actor award for his portrayal of Willie Loman, the failing and aging salesman.

Kate Lewis, who plays Loman's wife, was a regional award winner as was Stephen Finch, who played Loman's son Biff.

Opening lead—queen of spades. Here is a well-defended hand. South got to two top tricks and West led the queen of spades. East took it with the ace and led back the king of hearts.

Without this play, South would have had no trouble making the contract. Thus, let's suppose that East had made the more prosaic return of a club.

In that case South would win the club with the ace and establish four diamond tricks by leading the king and then the ten, overruling with the jack to force out the ace. He would in an attempt to nullify dummy's eight tricks consisting of:

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Maintain a down-to-earth attitude in all matters on Thursday. Stick to routine and don't undertake new enterprises or make long-range plans. If you do, you may be faced with some time-consuming revisions next week.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday you should find the next seven-and-a-half months marked by highly satisfactory progress where the attainment of worthwhile goals is concerned—both in occupational and financial matters. If you make the most of all opportunities to advance these interests, you should find your affairs in a more than stable condition by January 1st, when it would be wise to "take time out" on the monetary front to consolidate gains, make new plans and prepare yourself for a further upturn along these lines beginning with the 1st of March, when you will enter another splendid 4-month cycle for increasing assets.

While the entire year should be a good one where job matters are concerned, your most outstanding periods for advancement—and corresponding recognition—should occur in September, November, December and next March. You who are engaged in the artistic or scientific fields—and Taurus boasts many of these—should also have a good year, with highly inspiring and productive periods indicated in early September, December, next March and April.

Both travel and social interests should prove stimulating between now and mid-September, in December, January and next April. Best periods for affairs of the heart: Between now and late September is a period all Taurus should enjoy; in late October and next April. Don't take a possible sudden "romance" in mid-June too seriously, however.

A child born on this day will be extremely sympathetic and generous toward loved ones, and will be endowed with a fine mind and unusual versatility.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

A STATION AGENT in Eureka, Calif., heard a crash on the platform. He dashed out to see the tail end of a Southern Pacific train disappearing round the bend, while a disheveled gey lay prone on the concrete, surrounded by the contents of two opened suitcases. An owlish youngster stared at the gey, but made no effort to assist him.

"Was he trying to catch the train?" the station agent asked the youngster. "He did catch it," replied the youngster, "but it got away."

A summer resident had a brand new "water" pump which suddenly went out of commission, so an S.O.B. was sent out for the local plumber. He viewed the pump warily, then confessed, "I don't know a thing about these new-fangled gadgets. 'But we desperately need water,' wailed the summer resident. 'I beg you to keep trying.'"

The plumber finally solved the problem, too. A small frog had gotten caught in the mechanism.

The plumber demanded twenty dollars for his services. "Pretty steep for a little job like that, don't you think?" protested the summer resident. "It's this way," explained the plumber finally. "Any job's expensive when you don't know what the heck you're doing."

A press agent recently married the most conceited girl in Beverly Hills. So the guests threw puffed rice.

'Real Threat' By China Reported In New Delhi

Defence Minister V. B. Chidambaram today said the threat of an attack by China against India is real and immediate. "I do not think China has started making use of any tactical nuclear weapons at present," he said in answer to questions in the upper house. "The real and immediate threat is conventional."

A Canadian Pacific Airlines executive, Edwin Ogden, said today in Sydney, Australia, he is at a loss to explain the Australian government's reluctance to agree to Canadian Pacific's proposals for a reduction in Sydney-Vancouver air fares. Ogden told reporters his airline wants to introduce cuts on its fares over the South Pacific ranging from 20 to 40 per cent.

Man Who Saved Dog's Life To Be Awarded Humane Medal

HAMILTON (CP) — A Hamilton fireman who worked for 15 minutes to revive a dog at a fire Monday is to be recommended for a award from the Ontario Humane Society and the Hamilton Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Fireman E. W. (Bud) Harris was one of the first firefighters to enter the burning home of Vittorio Marini. Mr. Marini's five-year-old son Frank died 2 1/2 hours later in hospital from asphyxiation and burns.

Harris went to the second floor of the burning house where he noticed Frank, a 12-year-old dog belonging to the second-floor tenants. Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Paul Thibault, lying unconscious under a table.

The fire was under control and other firemen were making mountain-resuscitation in an effort to save the life of Frank Marini. Police had already rushed for the Hamilton SPCA to pick up the "dead" dog.

was given oxygen and drugs. "She's going to be all right," a veterinarian told Harris Monday night when he visited the dog after coming off duty. "She is still in shock but we'll give her a bath when she's got over it and she'll be home in a couple of days."

BEATLE BIN WAS SPOOKY LIVERPOOL, England (CP) — The Cavern Club, where the Beatles first fringed their way to the top, is to reopen under new ownership. It was closed by health authorities when the former owner could not afford to repair defective drains.

SURE BETTER HARVEST TORONTO (CP) — Ontario farmers expect to harvest 373,000 acres of winter wheat this year, the department of agriculture reported Tuesday. Last year 362,000 acres were harvested and 458,000 in 1964.

PLANS TRADE VISIT LONDON (Reuters) — Douglas Jay, president of the board of trade, will make a three-day visit to Canada next week for talks on Anglo-Canadian trade. He will confer with Canadian cabinet ministers. Jay, who leaves here May 25, will address a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club in Ottawa May 26 and the next day will speak at the 14th annual general meeting and conference of the British-Canadian Trade Association.

SHIP RANS TUG OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — A Norwegian cargo ship, the Bjergstad, was seized as a fuel barge being towed by a tug Tuesday in the St. Lawrence Seaway, causing an explosion and fire on both vessels. The U.S. Coast Guard reported. No one was reported injured and the fires were quickly extinguished.

RELEASE PRISONERS JAKARTA (Reuters) — The Indonesian government Tuesday released 15 political prisoners including Mochtar Lubis, the hard-hitting novelist and editor. They had been charged with planning to kill President Sukarno and overthrow the government. Student groups claim the "plot" was a fabrication by the former deputy premier, Dr. Subandrio, who now is in jail himself.

VISIT SAGE NORTH BAY (CP) — Students from the German Air Force command and staff college will tour the North Bay SAGE complex May 27. The 30-man group will arrive in Ottawa May 26 to begin a familiarization tour of RCAF installations. The tour will include Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Man., Toronto, St. Catharines, Stouffville, Trenton, Ont., Montreal and Halifax.

JUDGES BARRED TORONTO (CP) — The Upper Canada Law Society has ruled that former judges will not be allowed to appear as lawyers before any Ontario court or tribunal. The society made the ruling at its April convocation and made it known to lawyers Monday. Former judges, however, may practise corporation law, become company directors and handle estates and all other forms of non-courtroom work.
